

School NewsSenior takes his passion to the next level

by Emilee Guernsey

Moving his head back and forth, swaying as he stands, he sets up his equipment and begins to play his own creations to the crowd. As the tempo gets quicker, he sees people beginning to dance, and soon, he's dancing along himself.

Senior Carson Kennedy had the opportunity to perform at Austin's South by Southwest, an annual musical festival held in March, with the rapper known as Felly on March 12. He landed the gig with Felly after Felly's team tweeted...(cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

Boys basketball wrap up the season

by Emilee Guernsey

Falling short in playoffs, the CP boys basketball team finished their season 11-5 when they lost 72-65 to Alamo Heights on Feb. 26. This was the seventh consecutive year that the basketball team advanced into playoffs and boasted six academic all district players. This was senior Davis Brock's third year going into the playoffs.....(cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

Swim girls glide into State

by Anjali Sundaram

The cool water washed over her as she glided steady through the water, coming up for breaths every thirty seconds as she made her way down the line. Lap after lap she swam, feeling the exhilarating power of her arms and legs fighting the ever present current of the stagnant water. Finally, she moves deliberately forward, placing her hand on the wall and standing next to the wall. She did it.

This year, the swim team has gone through some changes, such as the arrival of the new coach, Dean Lackey...(cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

The Locker project opens new resources

by Avery Deen

A new branch of the Locker Project, or the Locker, has recently been started at CPHS. The Locker is a student run program that started in Georgetown and began to spread. The aim is to provide school supplies and necessities to students who may not have other ways of getting them. The ultimate goal of the project is to have a sort of "free store" on campus where students can go and acquire any items they may not have access to regularly. ...(cont. at cphswolfpack.org)
