Volleyball Looks Strong at Halfway Mark

by Nick Hedges, Reporter

At the halfway point of the season, the Cedar Park volleyball team looks poised to make another appearance in the playoffs. With a 28-9 record, the Lady Wolves are playing confidently, hoping to win a district title in the new District 19-5A.

After a difficult non-district schedule filled with quality opponents from all over the state...(cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

Swim Dives into a New Season

by Victoria Sananikone, Reporter

The CPHS Swim and Dive Team splashed into the new school year by hosting a Swim-A-Thon that took place on Sept. 27 at the Millburn pool during their practice. The Swim-A-Thon was instigated by the team's booster club with the goal to help fund the costs of travel, meals, equipment and recognition for the team throughout the year. Each lap that the team members swam was recorded and collected along with flat rate donations....(cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

Authors Invade Austin for TTBF

by Avery Deen, Reporter

The Texas Teen Book Festival (TTBF) made its annual appearance at Saint Edward's University on Oct. 1. This year the event boasted 34 authors including special guest Mindy Kaling, author of "Is Everyone Hanging Out Without Me?" and keynote speakers Leigh Bardugo, author of "The Grisha Trilogy" and "Six of Crows" duology and Laini Taylor, author of the "Smoke and Bone" trilogy. Lasting from 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., the day was full of panels, signings and other activities that festival goers could attend...(cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

10 College FB Games to Watch in Oct.

by Nick Hedges, Reporter

In Cedar Park, we are fixated on our Timberwolf football team. This is fine and good, but consider watching football on Saturdays too, when universities pit their football teams against each other, immersed in an atmosphere and environment on a whole different level than the one we experience on Friday nights. Let me recommend 10 games to watch this month:
