Here fishy fishy

by Meital Abraham

As freshmen wander through campus attempting to learn the various routes to classes, their eyes search eagerly for the east and west signs and they scour the different lunch lines. High school is a different experience for everyone, for some it comes easy, and for others it doesn't. Below are a few tips on hallway etiquette that might help make freshman year a bit less painful.

-Don't yell in the hallway. It's evident that the hallways are loud with students piling in and out of classes.

There's no need to add to the post-class chaos.

-It is unnecessary to travel in groups...(cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

Goin' back to Hogwarts

by Collyn Burke

While most students are focused on the start of a brand new school year, many have forgotten that Sept. 1 also marks the first day of Hogwarts, and the very first day of one James S. Potter, whom was sorted (not surprisingly) into Gryffindor.

"Who doesn't want to be in the same house as Harry Potter," senior Maria Tangarova said...(cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

Stirring up trouble is just too Yeezy

by Meital Abraham

The announcement of a future presidential candidate, peace being reached and shade being thrown all occurred during this year's Video Music Awards, or VMAs.

Rapper Kanye West declared his plans to run for president in the year of 2020. That being said, everyone attending high school at this moment will be able to vote for West. If West wins the election, Kim Kardashian-West will be the First Lady of the United States. Just let that sink in...(cont. at cphswolfpack.org)
