Blue Bell back on shelves

by Anjali Sundaram

The heat beats down on her as she pulls up at her family grocery store with her checklist ringing in her head: "eggs, milk, cheese..." Ambling, she makes her way into the store. She glides isle from isle, till she heads for the freezer section. Her mouth drops. There, sitting behind the frosted glass doors, encased with ice, is her favorite ice cream. Blue Bell is back.

In May, almost all ice cream lovers had the biggest shock of a lifetime; Blue Bell ice cream was taken off of shelves for reevaluation... (cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

Theatre welcomes director

by Collyn Burke

As a new year is reigned in, CPHS theatre department heads in a new direction, with a new director. Christine Hathcock will be making her Cedar Park directorial debut with Tony Kushner's adaptation of Pierre Corneille's "The Illusion" Oct 30 and 31.

"I'm really pleased to be here," new director Christine Hathcock said "I know that we can take the department to maximum potential."... (cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

Republicans play the Trump card

by Jacob Herrick

Donald Trump, entrepreneur, supreme captain of Miss USA and worth over 4 billion dollars, is responsible for the failure of the US democratic process. Now he has a skyrocketing approval rating among his republican compatriots despite his various policies. This might be entirely shocking to you, and it may make you want to curl up on the floor and cry yourself to sleep while scraping at the last scoops of Ben and Jerry's Chocolate Therapy ice cream, but don't...
