TEDxYouth@Austin back in Westlake

by Anjali Sundaram

TEDxYouth@Austin is a widely known organization, and while independent, it is a branch of the more globally known organization, TED. The difference? TEDxYouth@Austin is geared towards, and created by, the students of Austin, while being open for all high schoolers to apply.

The organization was created by a group of people working towards bringing the concepts of technology and science to the youth, and bettering the world of Austin in a distinct way.... (sat. at cp@wolfpack.org)

Timber Tech ready for laptops

by Emilee Guernsey

A new class known as Timber Tech was formed last school year in preparation for the deployment of the new Lenovo laptops that the freshmen will be given on Dec. 7 and 8.

The class is designed as a help desk for freshmen who experience difficulties with their laptops, according to librarian Debby Barnes. Students that need help with the Lenovos can go to the library during any period except first and seventh.... (sat. at cp@wolfpack.org)
