Fall Recipes: Mini Pumpkin Pies

by Jordy Peterson, Reporter

A flaky, buttery crust is introduced to the rich filling of pumpkin pie in this perfect recipe. Can't finish a whole slice? This recipe is for mini pumpkin pies, so you can still enjoy your favorite Thanksgiving treat on a smaller scale... (cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

"Cabaret" Astonishes Viewers

by Emilee Guernsey, Editor-in-chief

I have never been one to venture out to plays or musicals, but this past weekend I figured I should see at least one performance of Cedar Park's theater before I graduate, and I do not regret it one bit. "Cabaret," directed by Christine Hathcock, was an eye-opening, magnificent theatrical production.

Set during the rise of Hitler and Nazi Germany, the mood of the play was quite serious. Each actor and actress performed with much... (cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

Celebrities Dazzle at iDance

by Avery Deen, Reporter

The Leander High School PAC was filled with music and applause as dancers ruled the stage. At iDance on Oct. 25 and 26, dance teams from across LISD, including our CPHS Celebrities, came together to perform one big show. Practices for iDance started back in the summer at the same time the Celebs start prepping for football season, and senior captain Hannah McQueen gave her input on how this year's practice went.

"We learned both our hip hop and lyrical routines [during summer]," McQueen said... (cont. at cphswolfpack.org)

NBA Preview-Western Conference

by Nick Hedges, Reporter

The Cleveland Cavaliers have already been picked in the East, but who will face them out of the West? Will it be the obvious choice in the Golden State Warriors? Can someone else upset the Warriors and stop them? We'll find out soon enough. For now, here is our preview of the Western Conference.
